SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Committee and Citizens of Falmouth:

Herewith I submit my second annual report of the schools of the town of Falmouth.

Teachers. In point of experience the teachers of Falmouth make an unusual showing for a rural community. Eleven of the thirteen have had four or more years in school work, and nine have taught in their respective rooms previous to this year, from one to five years.

Though only two of the staff are normal graduates, all the others have taken special normal courses. Following are the names of those teachers who attended normal school during the summer of 1926: — Helen Hackett, Clara Hubbard, Florence Kelleher, Zita Short-hill, Millicent Teague, Dorothy Tocher, Jessie Tocher, and Daisy White.

It is gratifying to note in this connection that the committee has seen fit to encourage summer school work in a substantial manner. Early in the summer it was voted to grant a bonus to each teacher then in the service, of $25.00, providing she made a good record at the summer school and also rendered satisfactory service during the current year. The following teachers are candidates for this bonus in June:—Helen Hackett, Florence Kelleher, Dorothy Tocher, Jessie Tocher, and Millicent Teague. It is most commendable in the teacher who is willing to devote six weeks of her vacation to professional work of this kind. That it means better schools goes without saying.

I can say emphatically that the teachers, without exception, are attending to their duties faithfully and with a good degree of enthusiasm.

Miss Colley Resigns. Forty-seven years in school work is a long period of service, the value of which as affecting the life of the community cannot be measured in terms of money. It is an influence in character building that counts in a way most vital to all the best interests of those served.

Next to the effort of a faithful mother can that of the faithful teacher be compared. There is no higher service than that which is unselfishly rendered child-light should be brought into the building in order that the teacher shall not be driven out before her work is done, by approaching darkness.

It is disheartening to teacher and pupils to be shut into dark, gloomy schoolrooms. Sunlight and electricity are two wonderful factors in the promotion of cheerfulness and cheerfulness counts for very much in the process of child training.

In this connection it may be remarked that three buildings are already equipped with electric lights, it having been installed at Underwood some years ago by the Parent-Teachers' Association of that community. During the past summer the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Winslow district provided lights for their building, and also during the summer the Pine Grove building was equipped by the School Committee. This practical expression of interest by the citizens of the communities mentioned is a strong argument in favor of the improvement.

In the matter of providing comfortable surroundings for our children there is another important consideration that should not be overlooked. I have in mind the seating accommodations which in some of the schools should receive immediate attention. In a room where all the furniture is of the non-adjustable type the children cannot be comfortably seated. It is imperative that a third or half of the furniture in every room should be adjustable. In the modern building today the adjustable type only is used.

Attendance. . The importance of a high standard of attendance has been stressed throughout the year. The records show an encouraging gain in this particular. In any case there is little excuse for tardiness, and, barring illness, absence approaches the inexcusable. Here is a fundamental life lesson for the individual to learn, and the school is a good place in which to begin the practice of punctuality and regularity in attendance upon one's duties. The school register reflects unmistakably the school spirit. A high record of attendance means an interested group of children, wide awake, and eager to make the minutes count. Here the home influence is most decidedly felt.

Course of Study. Logically the large percent of Falmouth's secondary students attend the Portland schools. It is plainly evident that the superior advantages offered our young people in these schools is far beyond anything that could be provided at home even at greater expense than the present cost of tuition. With our boys and girls looking forward to entering these high schools it seems wise and even necessary that our work conform to that of the city elementary course of study. With this thought in mind Portland's superintendent of schools was approached on the subject. Appreciating the existing relations, Mr. Jack very generously provided copies of his most excellent course of study, sufficient for all our schools. We greatly appreciate this co-operative spirit and I am sure the schools will be much benefited thereby.

The D. W. Lunt Memorial. Following is a copy of a vote taken by the School Board at its regular meeting February 1, 1927:—"In recognition of his noble Christian character, and his long and faithful service, it is voted that the school located at Falmouth Corner in the neighborhood of his late home be named and hereafter known as the D. W. Lunt School."

Mr. Lunt's service in connection with the activities of the school department of Falmouth extended over the period from 1888 to 1926, inclusive.

Conclusion. I wish to express genuine appreciation for the hearty co-operation I have received from the committee as a whole and individually. The one thought has been for the good of the schools.

The same may be said respecting the teachers, whose earnest purpose has made our relations most happy. For this delightful attitude I wish to thank you all.

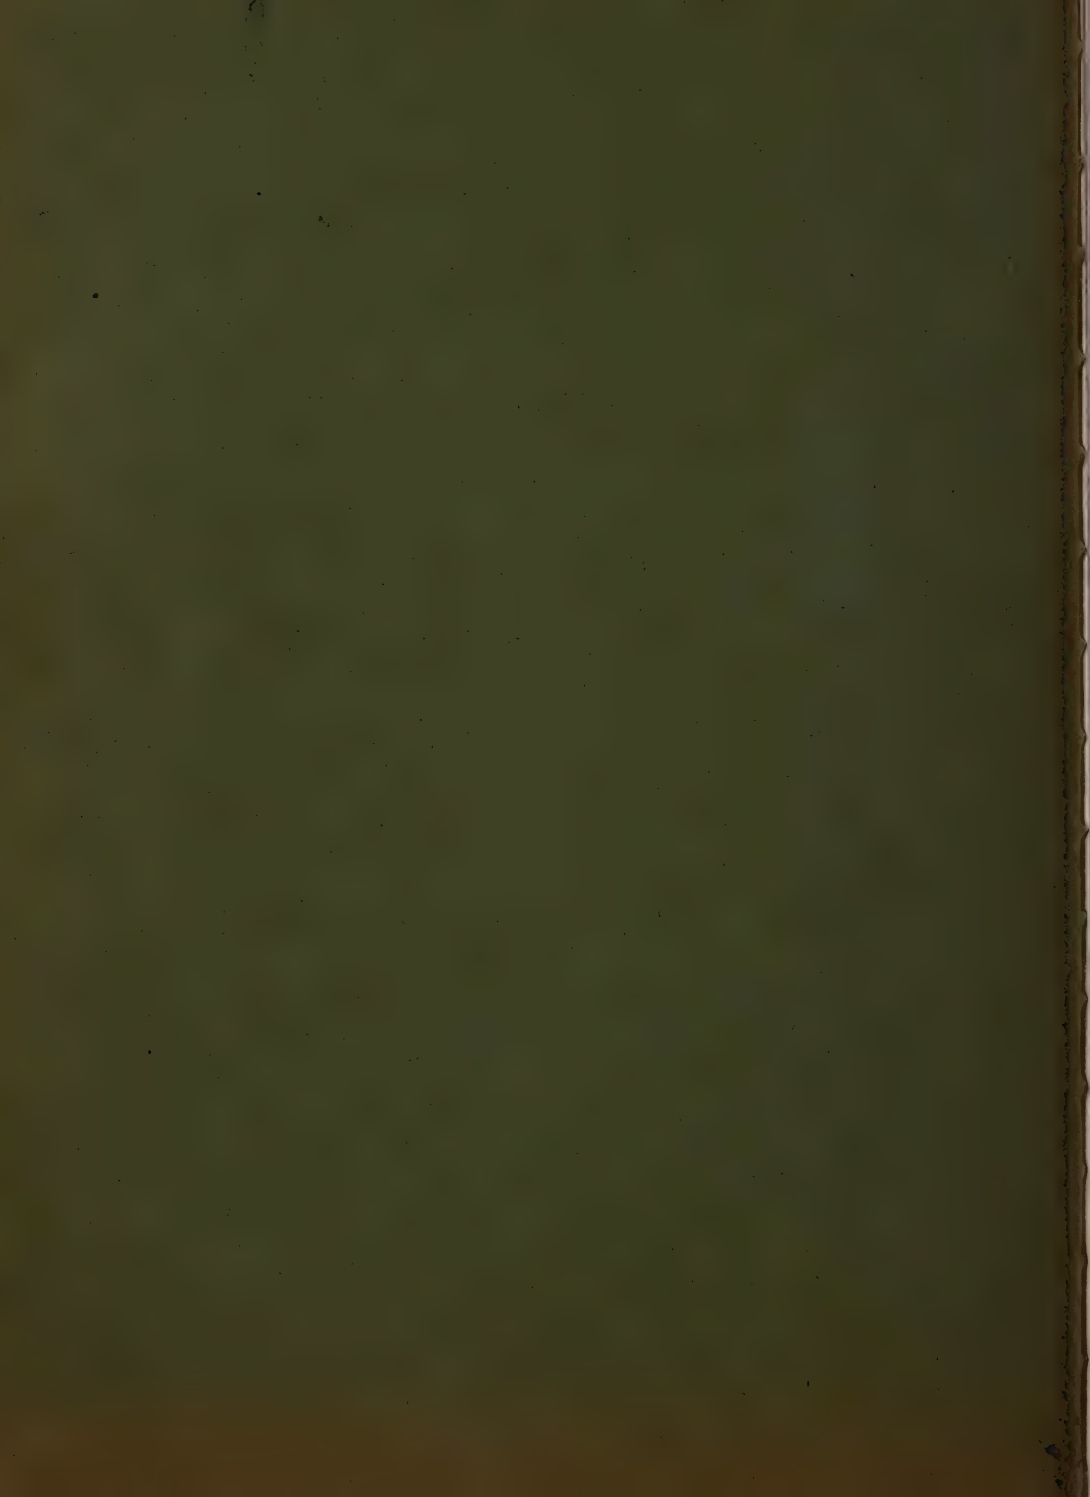

Respectfully submitted,
